

Regulations for Graduate Students to Take Courses Offered outside of the Department of Mechanical Engineering

1. Graduate students are allowed to take courses outside of the department or outside of the university and need to fulfill the following requirements:

Graduate students are required to receive at least 12 credit hours in the home department (for students who apply for studying Master's program directly to doctoral program, at least 24 credit hours in the home department), not including the credit hours of Department Seminar.

※Home department courses: Including courses offered at the Graduate Institute of Mechanical Engineering and Graduate Institute of Opto-Mechatronics.

A maximum of 6 credit hours taken outside of university (for students who apply for studying Master's program directly to doctoral program, a maximum of 9 credit hours taken outside of university) may be counted toward graduate degree requirements.

2. Graduate students need to fill in The Course Selection Record and have the approval of their academic advisor before the course selection outside of the department.
3. Graduate students need to keep The Course Selection Record and submit it to the department office with other documents when they apply for the dissertation/thesis oral defense.
